Fire chief honoured at Firefighters' Ball

By VICKI BROOKER
Review Staff

Thirty-six years of service to the community through the Elk Point Volunteer Fire Department, 16 of them as fire chief, were recognized at the Fourth Annual Firefighters Ball on Saturday night, when Assistant Fire Commissioner Ernie Polsom presented Ken Palamarek with an Alberta Emergency Services medal.

The medal is part of a service recognition program and pays tribute to outstanding full-time, part-time and volunteer members who have committed 12 or more years to emergency service.

"It's always a pleasure to see a thriving, active fire department, and it's nice when a volunteer fire department works as hard as this one," Polsom said. "It's a real pleasure to present this medal."

Polsom praised the department for their efforts at fundraising for needed equipment, noting that not all fire departments would have the ongoing dedication that led the Elk Point group to reach their goal.

"The testimony is in the parking lot," he said of the shiny new rescue van parked outside the Seniors' Recreation Centre.

Polsom brought greetings from Minister of Community Development Ray Danyluk, who was unable to attend the event. "He wanted me to stress his strong support of fire departments such as this one."

Over one million Albertans are protected by volunteer fire departments, and Polsom said his office recognizes that one of their roles is to support these departments. To increase this support, "we're increasing the number of fire safety officers in the province from five to seven."

Master of ceremonies, firefighter Robert Smith, said Palamarek is "highly respected by the members. With his experience, he is valuable both on scene and off."

Local politicians also praised the effort of the local firefighters.

Mayor Parrish Tung spoke of the community as "a living tapestry. Now I would like to talk about the strength and beauty of this tapestry. The strength comes from our volunteers within this community who give unselfishly for the common good of the community."

County discusses Stoney Lake subdivision

BY JANICE HUSER
Staff Writer

Those interested in purchasing land near a local lake will have another option to consider if all goes as planned and a subdivision along Stoney Lake is completed.

On March 13, County of St. Paul council passed the first reading of a bylaw rezoning land located at NW 23-56-8-W4 from "agricultural district" to "country residential."

"It's just been left for nothing for years," said County employee Dennis Bergheim, of the land in question.

Albert Rachynski, of Rachynski Land Surveys, explained that the subdivision was drawn up in the 1980s, but development was abandoned because of the economy at the time.

The current landowner wants to develop the lots facing the lake, Rachynski told council. The first phase of the project will consist of about 26 lots along the lake. The property is located just west of Stoney Lake Hall.

When council asked about access to the property, public works superintendent

Leo deMoissac said that a new road was built about five or six years ago leading up to the land, and access is not an issue.

After discussing the subdivision, Coun. Maxine Fodness made a motion to approve the first reading of the bylaw. The motion was carried.

A public hearing will be held before the second reading of the bylaw.

Bylaws

First reading of the land use bylaw and the municipal development plan were tabled until May, after council discussed some changes they would like to see made to the bylaws.

The first issue discussed was a requirement for farmers to obtain a building permit before constructing a farm building. The County's development officer, Glenn Zayac, approached the County with the idea.

"This way we're going to have record of all buildings in the County," said Zayac. He added that people going to the County office, prior to constructing a building, would be more aware of regulations.

Zayac said no fee should be charged for the permits. Currently, development permits are not required for farm structures.

Bouchard agreed that it wouldn't hurt for farmers to get more information, by visiting the County office and obtaining a permit at no cost.

Other issues discussed included standards for mobile homes, separation between homes in existing subdivisions, and wording changes.

Both bylaws were tabled until May so that a public hearing can be held in June when the County's consultant is available.

Hamburger Hill

Councillors were given a petition, signed by 15 residents, requesting a mile of road be completed to join Murphy Highway and Range Road 44.

The petitioners want industrial traffic taken off nearby residential roads, a hill rebuilt and a road developed for heavy truck traffic.

The hill is described as an "underdeveloped hill" in the petition, which also indicates that the "hill road trail has the nickname of Hamburger Hill."

"It's been an ongoing issue," said Coun. Glen Ockerman of the request.

Council felt the issue should be brought to Canadian Natural Resources Limited (CNRL), the road's primary user.

Council indicated that if CNRL does not fund the construction of the road, the County would not. But, if CNRL does fund the road, the County would construct it.

"CNRL uses a lot of our roads for their heavy oil trucks," said CAO Heyman, adding that the company contributes to the construction and maintenance of roads throughout the County.

A motion to file the request as information, until CNRL contacts the County, was carried.

Allied Arts Society

The Town of Elk Point informed council that the town had approved a $30,000 contribution to the Elk Point Regional Allied Arts Society for 2007 and 2008, to go toward the creation of an arts and leisure centre.

Last month, council agreed to support the project contingent on the Town of Elk Point's support.

Fire chief honoured at ball

"I applaud our volunteer firemen for their contribution to this effort," Tung continued. "The beauty of the community also comes from members of our community who provide the vision, goals and direction of what our community should be, who are not afraid to take a calculated risk to achieve their goals and vision. The Firefighters' Association, through their efforts to achieve their goals also contribute to the beauty of our community."

County of St. Paul councillor Glen Ockerman thanked not only the firefighters, but also their spouses and families "for the time they take to protect our community."

That time adds up. The department handled 88 calls and motor vehicle accidents last year and Palamarek said that making the necessary preparations for STARS landings is "another very, very important function" for the department. "STARS gets people in need to the help they require in the shortest time possible."

Palamarek said last year's calls were up by 22 from the previous year, and the department has already answered 17 calls this year.

The arrival of the new rescue van last fall was a highlight of the past year, he said.

"We moved all the equipment into it for all the functions we are qualified to do, and we continue to train, including some in new fields."

One of those new areas of training involved "going swimming at minus 20 in Kehewin Lake," Palamarek said. "And the instructor said we had to jump in with a smile on our face" The chilly plunge was part of an ice rescue course.

Palamarek thanked the donors of more than 60 silent auction items and other donations toward the ball, as well as all the companies and organizations who helped to make the purchase of the new rescue van possible.

"This year, we're upgrading and purchasing new equipment."

Fashion divas bid farewell

The fashion divas from the F. G. Miller High School staff gave retiring teacher Donna Rudolf (centre front, with her autographed jeans) a wealth of ideas for her new wardrobe at last Friday's 'fabulous' fashion show.

'Fabulous' fashion show for F. G. Miller retiree

By VICKI BROOKER
Review Staff

When F. G. Miller High School librarian Miss Lilly and her posse of teachers heard that coworker Donna Rudolf was retiring, "we decided that we wouldn't make a big deal out of her last day ... we'd make a fabulous deal out of it."

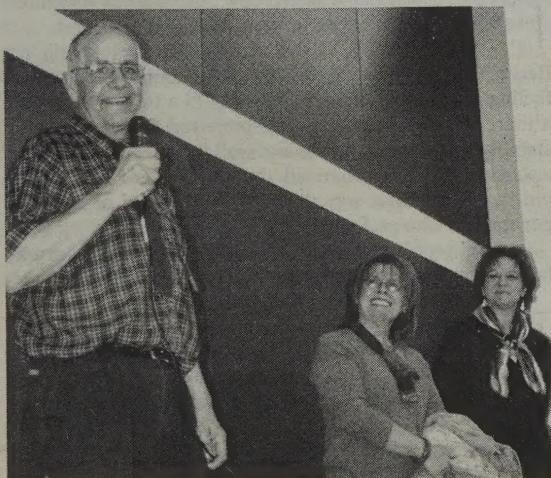

They decided to unveil "a trousseau for her new career move into the fashion industry... a fashion free-for-all hot of the runway of rummage right here in metro Elk Point."

Magnificent models Rose Petal, Venus Flytrap, Telulia, Black Dahlia, Un Sac de Fleurs, Little P, Lillianski Pentrovinska, the Lady in Red, Sadie Montgomery McGurie, Country Colour Carla and of course, Miss Lilly herself displayed some rather startling fashions. Styles ranging from long and flowing to short and showy, from tailored to tossed-together, were paired with the latest accessories, from boots with bling to a floaty feather boa... a style for every occasion.

Rudolf was escorted to VIP seating, front and centre in the crowd of cheering students, where she took in the show until called on stage to accept a gift from the student body — designer jeans covered waistband to hem with their autographs. Logan Dumont and Josh McLaren presented a gift and handmade card from her Home Ec 10 class, and FGM principal Laverne Wilson presented "a little gift" from the staff.

Rudolf, who has taught at FGM for nine years, made one final fashion statement on her departure, donning a bright orange-and-yellow safety vest to go out in front of the school and wave goodbye as busloads of students headed home for spring break.

FGM principal Laverne Wilson praised retiree Donna Rudolf for her good rapport with students over her nine years at the school.

See for yourself what's going on Enough of the speculation and coffee shop gossip about what projects are underway in this community - now you can find out the facts, first-hand.

That's the aim of Thursday night's community information meeting, where you can hear from the town council, the economic development committee, the Allied Arts Society and the chamber of commerce just what their plans are for upcoming projects. You can ask questions and find out the details.

Don't rely on your friends to tell you what they heard at the meeting - come see for yourself what's going on.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Congratulations, Mark, but let's not forget the others

To the Editor:

I want to start by congratulating Mark Letestu on being offered an amateur tryout contract with the AHL's Wilkes-Barre/Scranton Penguins (Pittsburgh Penguins farm team). Mark went to school with my younger brother and I have followed his career since he was in the AJHL (Bonnyville Pontiacs). Mark's performance in the AJHL (he was MVP in his last year, 2005-06) was such that he was offered a scholarship by Western Michigan University to play for the Broncos hockey team, where he led the team with 24 goals, five shorthanded goals and 46 points. Mark led all freshmen scorers across the NCAA in points and was named the Central Collegiate Hockey Association Rookie of the Year. I have my fingers crossed that Mark's time in the AHL will be productive and that we'll soon be watching him on TV skating with Sidney Crosby and the rest of the Pittsburgh Penguins.

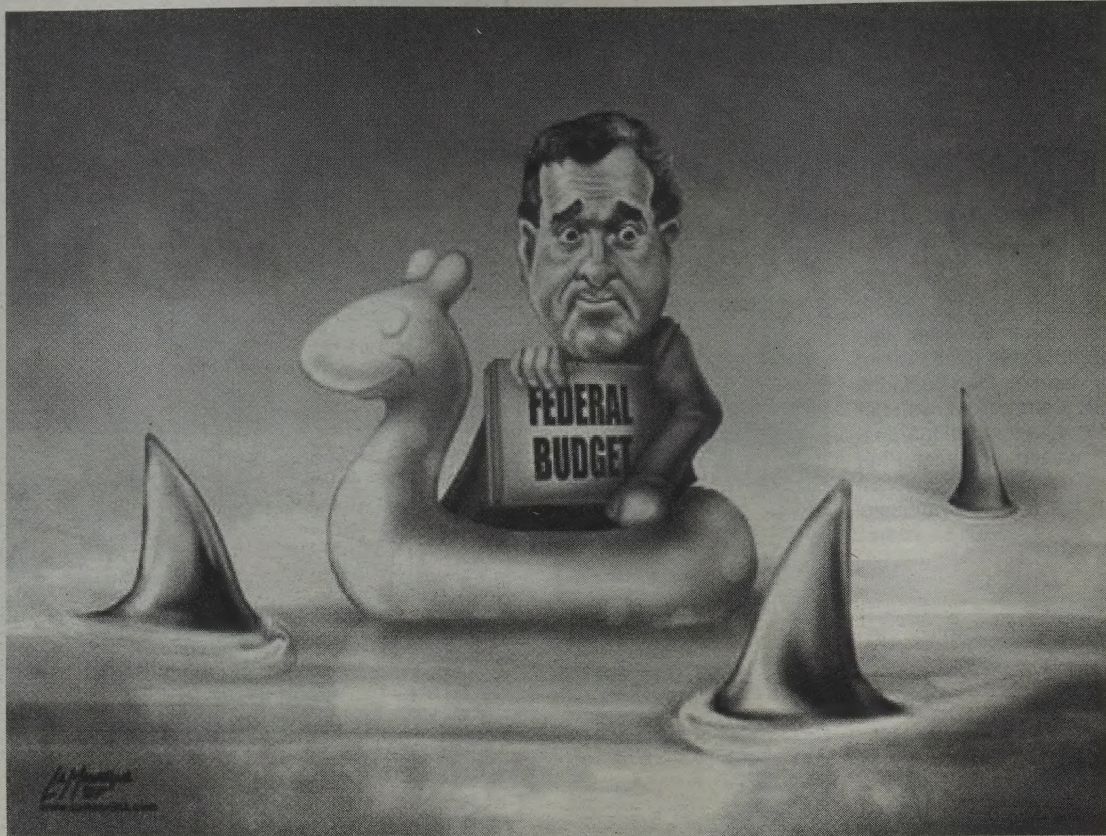

I would like to remind everyone that Mark is not the only local boy to get a shot at the NHL, nor is he the first one from Elk Point. Sheldon Souray, who was born in Elk Point, is currently playing for the Montreal Canadiens. He is the NHL's top-scoring defenseman, played in this year's All-Star game (recording a goal and an assist on the fan-elected starting lineup) and boasts the league's second hardest shot at a punishing 160.6 km/h (100.4 mph).

St. Paul's Kyle Brodziak got a chance in "the show" with the Edmonton Oilers this year. Kyle played with the AHL's Edmonton Roadrunners during the lock-out and is now with the Wilkes-Barre/Scranton Penguins, but was called up to try to plug some of the holes in the Oilers' hospital wing/lineup. Kyle recorded his first NHL goal on March 17 against St. Louis Blues. Vermilion-born Jeff Woywitka of the St. Louis Blues also scored his first NHL goal during that game. Jeff played on Team Canada at the 2002-03 World Juniors, won the Memorial Cup with the WHL's Red Deer Rebels in 2001, and was Kyle's teammate on the Roadrunners.

Other local boys in the NHL include Lloydminster's Wade Redden of the Ottawa Senators and Colby Armstrong of the Pittsburgh Penguins (Jeff's teammate on the 200-01 Red Deer Rebels), and players like St. Paul's Phil Gervais of the WHL's Swift Current Broncos are working hard and crossing their fingers that they'll get the same chance as their heroes. Glendon-born Stan "Steamer" Smyl, formerly of the Vancouver Canucks, is one such hero.

So here's to all our local gus and girls who work hard to achieve their goals, whether they're playing in the NHL, recording a CD (like Elk Point's Travis Pankiw of the band Joshua's Habit) or writing a book. Best of luck!

Jennifer Flanders

GUEST COLUMN

Our town's growth

The Edmonton Journal of March 17, 2007 released the 2006 census information in regard to population changes. In 2001, the population of Elk Point was 1,445 and in 2006, the population of Elk Point was 1,487, which was a percentage change of 2.9 per cent. Even though we know that people moved out and some people moved into our town, it is nice to learn that our population increased. The reality is that we probably would have had more people move into Elk Point if our housing situation allowed that to happen. Of interest, the community to the north of us, Bonnyville's population in 2001 was 5,709 and in 2006 it was 5,832, which was a 2.2 per cent change. The community to the west of us, St. Paul's population in 2001 was 5,061 and in 2006 was 5,106, which was a 0.9 per cent increase. In regard to the city of Edmonton, the population in 2001 was 666,104 and in 2006, the population was 730,372, which was a 9.6 per cent increase. No wonder it feels like there is more traffic in Edmonton as you drive down the streets!

Fast as Edmonton's population has grown, Mayor Stephen Mandel said it's not fast enough.

"We're still a long way from where we need to be as far as population to deal with the rapid (economic) growth we're facing," Mandel said. Basically, the bottom line is really the increase of cost of everything and the increase in demand for services. You need an increase of population with people paying taxes to be able to meet all the demands. If this is the case in Edmonton, then one can certainly understand how it could be the same in any community. The Town of Elk Point must be on this same wavelength. I am sure our community development people and our town council would like to see more things happen in Elk Point - if only!

Of course, the volunteer factor in our community has felt the "if only" factor for a long time now. For example, several people live in other locations and travel to Elk Point to work. What this means is that we don't experience the advantage of having these people live in Elk Point. If they did, hopefully we would see them involved in community organizations and community activities. They would be volunteering and sharing their talents with all of us. So yes, an increase of volunteers would be something appreciated in our community.

But then again, with population growth there is always change. For those of us who have lived in a community for a long time. It may be hard for us to accept any kind of change. Changes can come from population growth or it could come from political change.

In Stephen R. Covey's book, "The 8th Habit," he tells a story about the Berlin Wall. The Berlin Wall was up for over 40 years - over two generations. Imagine how deep the division between east and west became in the minds and hearts of the people. What a profound separation! What a profound contrast! When in 1989 it physically came down, it didn't necessarily come down in the hearts and minds of most of the people. It was like a sacred cow, like the old structures and systems of the Industrial Age. Tradition dies hard.

I'll never forget a cab ride into East Berlin with no Berlin Wall and hearing the cab driver complain about the feeling of insecurity he felt adjusting to a freer market and a more democratic society. He preferred the security and stability that the old regime and wall represented. This was a shock to me to hear him talk this way. He said most of the old-timers feel that way, and they are critical of the new generation, who prefer greater freedom to security.

So yes, problems can be experienced whether it is population growth or political change.

Meeting to look into Elk Point's future

By VICKI BROOKER
Review Staff

With numerous community projects on the go or in the planning stages, four Elk Point groups and our local MLA, Minister of Municipal Affairs Ray Danyluk, are joining forces to present their vision for Elk Point's future.

Elk Point town council, the chamber of commerce, the economic development committee and the Allied Arts Society will all be on hand to talk about their plans for upcoming projects at what is termed a "community future information meeting" this Thursday evening, March 29, at 7:30 p.m. at the Seniors' Recreation Centre.

Area residents are invited to come and check out displays, ask questions and give their input on upcoming projects such as water treatment plant upgrading, walking trails, the Allied Arts Centre and the train station/tourist information centre, and to learn more about the town's plans for more residential and industrial development. Everyone is welcome.

With a hundred years of community history behind us, Elk Point is ready and eager to start its second century with preparations for growth, and improvement in infrastructure, amenities and attractions for future residents and visitors alike.

Please drop down to the Seniors Centre and check out first hand what's coming up in Elk Point's future.

ELK POINT CENTENNIAL QUESTION OF THE WEEK

The cream of the crop

Back in the early homestead days, many farm families found the sale of milk and cream to be an important source of income.

As more and more settlers established cattle herds, there grew to be a surplus of cream, and a cream testing station was set up to deal with the excess. In 1916, William Milholland Sr. began performing this necessary service, weighing and testing incoming cream for butterfat content, and paying the farmer accordingly. The cream was poured into 40 gallon barrels and hauled to Vermilion, either by the local freight hauler or by the mailman.

In 1920, when the railroad reached St. Paul, the local testing station was closed and a Mooswa resident, Eddie Davis, saw the opportunity to provide a freight and cream hauling service to the new rail terminus.

However, when the railway was extended to Elk Point in 1927, local farmers agreed that a creamery was needed here. Shares were sold in the new company with Woodland Dairy of Edmonton holding 89 shares and local merchants and farmers 99 shares. The creamery, at what is now the corner of Highways 41 and 646, opened in 1928 with Selmer Johnson as the first butter maker. He was succeeded by Bill Hetsler and his son Wes, and then by Art Dykstra.

Dwindling cream supplies and the depression of the 1930s led the company to a decision to lease out the creamery, Clare Johnson leased it from the end of 1935 until 1938, when Bob Dale purchased the business from the company.

William Milholland Jr. went to work for Johnson in 1937, and continued making butter until 1973, winning many awards for his butter over the years.

After Dale passed away in 1953, the creamery was sold to a company known as Elk Point Dairy Product. The company built a new creamery in 1959, which is now the bottle depot. The previous creamery later became a slaughterhouse, which burned to the ground in the late 1970s.

Next question: How long did it take to build the railway line from St. Paul to Elk Point, and where was the proposed eastern end of the line at that time?

Historical Society AGM rescheduled

Elk Point Historical Society has postponed their annual meeting, originally planned for tonight to Wednesday, April 4, starting at 6 p.m. at Taste Buds. The society's centennial projects will be a main focus of the meeting.

Higher utilities, hosts to provincial hockey

HERE'S THE NEWS THAT MADE THE HEADLINES OF THE LAKELAND REVIEW AND ELK POINT REVIEW FOR THE WEEK OF MARCH 27 IN...

1987

Utility customers in Elk Point would face higher water and sewer rates as of May 1, after Town Council passed a motion increasing the minimum cost for water and decreasing the minimum gallonage, in hopes of coming closer to meeting operating costs. Elk Point and district raised $1,026.26 in donations for Rick Hansen's Man in Motion tour, an amount which would be matched by the provincial government.

1992

Billie Milholland's fascination with the history of the Elk Point area earned her the first TIALTA Heritage Tourism Award to ever come to northeast Alberta. Elk Point Midget Thunder finished their first season by winning the zone championship, as they prepared to host the Midget C Provincials.

1997

Elk Point Midget Thunder watched their year-long arch-rivals, the Kitscoty Pitbulls, go down to defeat at the hands of Eckville Eagles as the Thunder hosted Midget C Provincials. Robyn Danyluk placed first in senior competition at District 4-H Public Speaking in St. Lina, while Kyle Kurek placed second in the Junior competition.

2002

Elk Point Storm hosted an outstanding Midget Female B provincials, with the Gibbons - Bon Accord CNN Spurs taking home the gold. Elk Point Chamber of Commerce got some food for thought along with their dinner as members brought along three pages of suggestions for town revitalization.

Farms are run on hard work and dedication. So are our Petroleum locations.

At UFA, we've worked hard to build one of the most extensive and reliable networks of Petroleum locations in western Canada.

UFA Business Opportunity

UFA is seeking a Petroleum Agent in Elk Point. As a UFA commissioned Petroleum Agent you demonstrate strength in following corporate policies and procedures, and you have the ability to market fuels, lubricants and automotive-related products.

You will have 7 - 10 years of experience in the retail sector or related business experience. You are self-motivated and ambitious with a good knowledge of the farming and agricultural industry. You require a Class 3 license; additionally, WHMIS and H2S certification would be an asset. Your past work history has allowed you to demonstrate strength in leadership and team building.

The incumbent will have access to funds required for working capital and delivery trucks.

Interested? Please apply before April 20 to:

INVESTOR ALERT

Sometimes the riskiest investments don't feel that way at all.

The Alberta Securities Commission gives you the warning signs of an investment club that may be an unstable pyramid scheme — and could take you by surprise.

If you recognize any of these warning signs:

- ☐ You've been invited to a meeting for a secret or private (or once-in-a-lifetime) opportunity
- ☐ The investment promises unreasonably high, annual rates of return
- ☐ You're pressured to put all of your money into the deal
- ☐ You don't understand the investment set up
- ☐ The club talks of moving funds offshore and frequently refers to tax avoidance
- ☐ You're encouraged to pursue the opportunity without seeking independent expert advice

...then contact us before you risk your money.

Call the Alberta Securities Commission at 1-877-355-0585 or visit albertasecurities.com to find out what questions you need to ask to protect your money.

Stores hit by vandals

Stores in and outside of Elk Point were targeted by criminals on the night of Thursday, March 9.

Sometime between 9:00 p.m. that evening and 6:30 a.m. the following morning, a person or persons destroyed the front picture window of Woody's Trophy and Gift Store on Main Street when a trash can lid was thrown through both panes of glass.

Sometime during that same night, a person or persons forced their way into Northern Valley Store, destroying property, and stole an amount of items, including cigarettes, from the premises.

Anyone with information regarding either of the above or any other crime is asked to call Crime Stoppers at 1-800-222-TIPS (8477) or Elk Point RCMP Detachment at (780) 724-3964.

Crime Stoppers will pay up to $2,000 for information leading to the arrest of the person(s) responsible for this or any other crime. You do not have to reveal your identity and if your tip leads to an arrest you qualify for an award.

Seventeen skaters showcase skills on St. Patrick's Day

By Vicki Brooker
Review Staff

Seventeen was the lucky number on St. Patrick's Day, March 17, as 17 Elk Point skaters and their special guest performed 17 numbers for a delighted crowd of parents, grandparents and guests at the annual Skating Club Showcase in the shamrock-festooned A. G. Ross Arena.

Star Skaters Kaitlyn Magosse, Elizabeth Orr, Natasha Demers, Spenser Young, Tammy Roberts and Catherine Noftall opened the show, skating to "Walking on Sunshine."

The club's youngest skaters, Canskaters Keanna Radcliffe, Tyson Gadwa, Lyon Cueva, Wolke Cueva, Shayla Cameron and Carson Vogel, turned into everyone's favourite cartoon heroes in their number, as they demonstrated their growing skating skills in fine fashion, under the guidance of coach Stephanie Dargis.

Elizabeth Orr was the first soloist of the show, with the American Waltz, followed by Natasha Demers with the Fourteen Step and Kaitlyn Magosse with the Willow Waltz, the latter two accompanied by guest skater Chris Ali.

Junior Star Skaters Spenser Young, Tammy Roberts and Catherine Noftall skated to "Perfect Day" in their special number.

Power Skaters Dustin Demers, Nathaniel Roberts, Mackenzie Roberts, Kaiden Evans and Brandon Bourne showed speed and agility as they performed their routine.

Guest skater Chris Ali was next on the program. The talented Edmonton skater swooped and swirled to the catchy rhythm of the "Spiderman" theme in his first of two solos.

Elizabeth Orr, with her interpretive number, Natasha Demers with the Tenfox, Kaitlyn Magosse with her preliminary freeskate all showed great promise as they swept through their routines.

Guest skater Chris Ali and Star Skater Natasha Demers swoop through the Fourteen Step.

Ali was back on the ice to wow the crowd with a second number, before the three senior skaters wound up the show with "Supermodel."

Skaters and guests enjoyed a great potluck meal following the show, topped off with a shamrock-trimmed cake, and the day wrapped up with an opportunity for everyone to lace up the blades for one last skate of the season.

Sportshound digs into the archives

It was lunchtime on Saturday when my wife Donna asked me "What are you going to do today with yourself today, the arena is closed and there's no minor hockey for you to watch." Good question, I'll have to think of something fast or she may come up with some nasty jobs around the house for me to do. Couldn't think of anything to tie me over until ball season starts, so off I told her I had to go to work and off to the shop I went and started digging into some of my old archives. My daughter Jena had email me earlier in the week when she heard about Mark Letestu signing with the Penguins and asked if I was going to write about him this week, and of course

doug
BASSETT

Review Sports

I had been thinking about it all week. At the last minute last week we did a short report on Mark "the Marksman" Letestu getting signed by the Pittsburgh Penguins and playing immediately on the farm team in Wilkes-Barre (three games this past week) and is and possibly going to be the first player from our town playing in the NHL someday.

Now of course Sheldon Souray is listed from Elk Point as well, but I haven't been able to find anyone who knows if he actually played here. But he was born here in our hospital so that's what they use for the records when they flash his name on TV or write about him in the paper, but if anyone can tell me, I sure would like to know if he actually played any minor hockey here. Regardless, he has to be one of the top five or six defenseman in the whole league as far as I'm concerned and is about to tie or break an NHL for the most power-play goals by a defenseman.

One thing I do know 'the Marksman' played hockey in Elk Point right up until his second year of peewee. After doing some digging I found what I was looking for, the Peewee Lightning back in March 1999 when they were on the provincial run, winning first over Vermilion, then Kitscoty, then Lac la Biche to send them to the provincial final. According to my records in the papers "The Marksman" scored four goals in each of the last three games to help the Lightning win the zone and go on to the provincial final in Fairview that year. In Fairview the team won all three of their games in the round robin but lost in the semi final against Manning, that game was played in Hines Creek for some crazy reason, an hour's drive for our guys at 6a.m. on a Sunday morning. Manning had a little advantage as far as travel goes.

As always we did a player profile the week before the big show and this is what I had wrote about Mark: "Mark Letestu, nickname "Marksman," a dangerous player around the net who has great accuracy for scoring and passing the puck, excellent set up man, he sees the ice well, leading scorer of the team, and in the top three in the whole North East League for peewees as well." Call me a pack rat but in my box of goodies I also found his peewee hockey card as well.

It was a very talented team that year that went to Fairview, along with "the Marksman", we had team captain and the pivot on the defense and a mighty fine player himself, I might add, "Captain Crunch" George Danyluk, on the wings the "Ice Man" Kevin Moneta, who has spent the last few years playing college hockey in Camrose and also on the wing "Crusher" Kyle Nielsen, at center ice the "Speed Demon" Colton Hoffman, and of course Kurt "the Wall" Kozicky was in net for the boys, plus other younger first year guys who turned out to be fine players too, like Jason Kalynchuk, Greg and Jesse Kozicky, Darcy Ockerman and Scott Dallaire. Three of the top atoms that had older brothers playing also tagged along that weekend, Lee Letestu, Devin Moneta and Ryan Ockerman.

A year ago he played hockey in Bonnyville with the Pontiacs, attended our minor hockey banquet, played shinny with the kids, and today he is one step away from playing with "Sid the Kid"

Today's profile of the "Marksman" is not a whole lot different than when he played peewee in Elk Point, but along with his natural talent, commitment and desire to win, the biggest asset he has, I know this first hand, he is easy to coach. The whole town is extremely proud of you, Mark. Elk Point - home of the "Marksman"

And now for the K.A. Campbell quote of the week- "If it doesn't matter who wins or loses, then why do they keep score?" Last week's answer to: "I knew I was in trouble when I heard my best forward saying to my best defenseman, 'I always have a bad game when I hear that song,' and it was the national anthem." - unknown. Do you have any scoops? Now you can email them to sportshound 007@hotmail.com

County council

Elk Point town council also passed a motion supporting joint ownership of the centre, by the County of St. Paul and the Town of Elk Point.

Muni-Corr bylaw

Slight wording changes have been made to bylaw 1484, dealing with the use of the Iron Horse Trail, owned by North East Muni-Corr Ltd.

At council's last meeting, all three readings of the bylaw were passed. Changes dealt with rewording the bylaw to cover trucks using the trail.

"It was never the intent for them to be outside the rules," said County Reeve Robert Bouchard. "Basically (it's) just a wording change."

Trucks are not allowed on the trail unless they receive special permission, said Heyman after the meeting.

Frog Lake pedestrian safety pilot project starts April 1

By SGT. DARRYL EAGLES

Elk Point RCMP Detachment

The Elk Point detachment of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police and their partners at the Morning Sky Health and Wellness Centre on the Frog Lake First Nation are about to begin a pilot project in an attempt to lower the rate of pedestrians being struck on area roadways. The campaign will consist of both enforcement and education. Beginning April 1st, the R.C.M.P. will begin a campaign to target pedestrians walking on the wrong side of the road. Violators will be issued a traffic ticket, but they will be given an opportunity to have the ticket withdrawn if they agree to attend an educational session. This education session will be delivered prior to the court date on the ticket and will be presented by members of the R.C.M.P., the Morning Sky Health and Wellness Centre and officials from the First Nations and Inuit Health Branch at Health Canada. At the same time, the Frog Lake First Nation has purchased reflective armbands which will be handed out by the local Frog Lake Band Office, the Morning Sky Health and Wellness Centre and the R.C.M.P. officers on patrol. This campaign is not meant to be a "cash grab." The issuing of the traffic ticket is meant to be a tool to get recipients of the ticket into the education session.

There is a similar campaign in effect in Alberta involving motorist not having child passengers restrained in motor vehicles. The same type of option is available for motorists receiving those tickets where they can attend an education session delivered by the Regional Health Authority and members of the R.C.M.P. However, the campaign involving pedestrians is believed to be the first of its kind in Alberta. Before beginning this campaign authority had to be received from Alberta Justice.

The campaign is expected to run for six months and will be re-examined at that time.

Scrapbooking @ your library

By DAPHNE SCHNURER

Librarian

Be sure to mark April 4 on your calendar, as you won't want to miss our scrapbooking display and mini workshop. Toni May will be instructing our workshops. Toni has been a scrapbooking consultant for four years and enjoys helping others with their photos.

She will be teaching us the four different ways to preserve your photos, either by scrapbooking, pic folio, digital or storybook. There will be some hands-on activities you can participate in, and of course you can ask Toni for advice on the latest scrapbooking techniques and products.

Be sure to stop in either at 2:00 p.m. or 7:00 p.m. and join us for a great time.

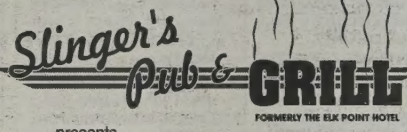

For more information, please stop by the library or call 724-3737.

Just a reminder to all the seniors that the library's Seniors Tea will be coming up on Tuesday, April 10. Celebrate spring with us as we all enjoy goodies and good conversation.

Style on a budget

With the arrival of spring, many of us start thinking about brightening up our homes for the new season. Better Homes and Gardens publication, "Style on a Budget," contains a wealth of great ideas, under headings like "paint power," "super store stand-ins," instant architecture to go" and "second-hand savvy." Learn to create a focal point, mix formal furniture with more primitive pieces and age furniture with a crackle finish.... all at a price you can afford.
